Amsterdam (Netherlands) – Elevion Group continues its growth path on the Spanish photovoltaics market. As a part of this strategic expansion, Elevion Group acquires the Spanish renewable energy companies Trexcom Energías Renovables S.L. and Reconcar (Revisiones Y Control De Cartagena S.L.), which will be integrated into BELECTRIC España.

Continuing its strategic expansion on the Spanish photovoltaics market, Elevion Group acquires two medium-sized renewable energy companies, which will be integrated into BELECTRIC España, Member of Elevion Group. Trexcom Energías Renovables S.L. develops and builds solar energy projects and self-consumption systems for private citizens and companies. The firm has more than 25 years of experience in the development of electrical infrastructures, energy efficiency projects, and renewable energies. Reconcar (Revisiones Y Control De Cartagena S.L.) was founded in 1996 and specialises in the installation and maintenance of low- and high-voltage systems. The approximately 60 employees at both Murcia-based companies possess long-standing experience and in-depth know-how that are invaluable to Elevion Group's and BELECTRIC's next steps in Spain.

"Our Green Energy segment is recording continuous and pleasing growth that exceeds our expectations. The demand on the market, particularly in the field of renewable energies, is enormous", explains Jaroslav Macek, CEO of Elevion Group.

Dr. Thorsten Blanke, CEO of BELECTRIC, adds: "The Spanish PV market plays a vital role in our strategy and is becoming increasingly important within the BELECTRIC Group. We are proud to be joined by Trexcom and Reconcar, two companies that know the market like the back of their hand and add valuable experience to our multinational expertise."

"This is an important step for us. Conversations with employees from both companies have shown that they are motivated and fit in perfectly with BELECTRIC's hands-on mentality", comments Paloma Méndez Pérez, Managing Director of BELECTRIC España.
